

DIVISION OF RESEARCH PROGRAMS

Through the Division of Research Programs, NEH assists scholars who are engaged in examining ideas, making inquiries, and assembling evidence that leads to a better understanding of human thought, societies, and cultures worldwide. Their projects are often journeys into archival sources to discover and make available previously inaccessible material. In the Scholarly Editions program, for example, a 2005 grant was awarded to The Massachusetts Historical Society to digitize, over three years, thirty-five volumes of edited documents, a total of about 17,600 pages, bearing on two of the leading families of colonial America—the Winthrops and the Adamses. At the completion of the project, scholars, students, and the general public will be able to use important texts heretofore available only in major research libraries. The Society will make the text available free of charge on its Web site (www.masshist.org).

Within the Collaborative Research Program, the division supports long-term research ranging from archaeological projects to scholarly conferences, biographies, and linguistic and literary endeavors. A 2005 grant went to the University of California, Los Angeles, in support of a project entitled “The First Generation of British Industrialists: Scientific Culture and Civic Life, 1780–1832.” This historical study, a collaboration involving Margaret Jacob and Larry Stewart and two summer graduate research assistants, regards industrialization as part of a cultural process with scientific knowledge playing a central role. Their investigation of the first generation of British industrialists builds on research that has revealed the depth and sophistication of human agency and which undercuts more mechanistic models of economic growth. A 2005 award to the W. F. Albright Institute of Archaeological Research is supporting one twelve-month and one six-month postdoctoral fellowship for each of three consecutive academic years through 2009. These are continuous, residential fellowships at the institute, located in Jerusalem. The Albright is dedicated to pursuing research across the entire gamut of ancient Near Eastern Studies, from prehistory through the early Islamic Period. In 2005 the Endowment supported fellowships at fourteen research institutions in the U.S. and eleven institutions that facilitate international research.

Fellowships, summer stipends, and faculty research awards also provide support for humanities research. In 2005 a fellowship was awarded to Chitralekha Zutshi of the College of William and Mary in support of a project entitled “A Social History of the Northern Indian Kashmiri Shawl.” Zutshi argues that, far from simply being mere textiles, Kashmiri shawls were commodities that embodied cultural values, not only those of Kashmir but also those of the societies to which the shawls were exported.

In 2005 the Endowment entered into a special partnership with the National Science Foundation to document endangered languages throughout the world. The central objectives of one such project, undertaken by Erin Katherine Debenport of the University of Chicago, are to record and archive audio materials in the Southern Tiwa language as it is spoken at Sandia Pueblo, New Mexico, and to train tribal members in descriptive linguistic methodology.

An NEH summer stipend was awarded to Patricia E. Grieve of Columbia University for her project, “True Lies: Tweaking the Saints’ Tales in Don Quixote.” The NEH grant made it possible for Grieve to complete one long chapter in a book about how Cervantes and Maria de Zayas creatively manipulated saints’ lives and other kinds of spiritual writings in their own secular stories. Grieve argues that because of the tremendous power and impact of religious traditions on the daily lives of seventeenth-century Spaniards, writers were able to create ironic, subversive parodies in short tales about women and their social roles.

Faculty research awards support faculty at historically black colleges and universities, Hispanic-serving institutions, and tribal colleges. Stanley Harrold of South Carolina State University received a faculty research award in support of his project, “Border War: The Long War before the American Civil War.” The focus of the project is the violent confrontation between anti-slavery and proslavery forces that occurred from the 1820s to the 1860s on the long border between America’s free-labor and slave-labor states. In its geographic scope and in its investigation of the proslavery side, Harrold’s study indicates that assisted slave escapes, the kidnapping of free Northern African Americans into slavery, and armed conflict between antislavery and proslavery vigilantes in the region pushed the United States toward disunion and war.

During 2005, 111 books resulted from NEH-funded research. Among them were a number of prize winners. American Prometheus: The Triumph and Tragedy of J. Robert Oppenheimer by Kai Bird and Martin J. Sherwin won the Pulitzer Prize for Biography. E. Brooks Holifield of Emory University was awarded the Albert Outler Prize by the American Society of Church History for his Theology in America: Christian Thought from the Age of the Puritans to the Civil War. Jonathan Sarna of Brandeis University won the Saul Viener Prize of the American Jewish Historical Society for his American Judaism: A History. Alice Kaplan of Duke University received the 2005 Henry Adams Prize, awarded by the Society for History in the Federal Government, for The Interpreter.
