TIMELINE ..................................................................................................................................... 19
I. Program Description

NEH Humanities Initiatives at Historically Black Colleges and Universities are intended to strengthen the teaching and study of the humanities, in subjects such as history, philosophy, literature, religion, and the interpretation of the arts. These grants may be used to enhance existing humanities programs, resources, or courses, or to develop new ones. Applicants are encouraged to draw on the knowledge of outside scholars who would contribute expertise and fresh insights to the project. Each project must be organized around a core topic or set of themes. For examples, see the sample project narratives, which are available on the program resource page. Applicants are also encouraged to read the sample project narratives of three closely related programs: Humanities Initiatives at Hispanic-Serving Institutions; Humanities Initiatives at Tribal Colleges and Universities; and Humanities Initiatives at Community Colleges. The application requirements for these programs are nearly identical to those for Humanities Initiatives at Historically Black Colleges and Universities.

NEH Humanities Initiatives may

- support new humanities programs (which may include but are not limited to new humanities minors, first-year seminars, and capstone courses), and enhance existing ones;
- support curricular development that integrates humanities approaches with professional training (in such fields as business, law, science, technology, and nursing and medicine);
- integrate substantial humanities content or texts in required or developmental courses that focus on close reading, analytical writing, and/or effective speaking;
- develop or substantially enhance bridge programs for first-year, first-generation, at-risk, and/or nontraditional students;
- create opportunities for faculty members to study together, in order to improve their capacity to teach the humanities;
- help institutions create or enhance humanities resources for teaching, such as oral histories and historical or literary collections (projects incorporating podcasts, mapping tools, and other digital components are especially encouraged); and
- support collaborative projects in the humanities between the applicant institution and another institution, such as a college or university, a school or school system, a museum or library, or a historical or cultural society.
The Humanities Initiatives program does not support

- projects that advocate a particular program of social action;
- projects that seek to promote a particular political, religious, or ideological point of view;
- projects that center on pedagogical theory or methods; or
- projects that center on producing works in the creative or performing arts.

Projects and their relation to an institution’s cultural identity

Projects may but need not be related to the cultural identity of the applicant institution. For example, a project on ancient Greek drama submitted by a Historically Black College or University would be fully eligible.

NEH areas of interest

NEH broadly encourages humanities projects related to three agency-wide initiatives that are described in greater detail immediately below: The Common Good; Standing Together; and Protecting our Cultural Heritage. Note, though, that all applications will be given equal consideration in accordance with the program’s evaluation criteria (listed below in Section II of these guidelines), whether or not they respond to any of these initiatives.

The Common Good: The Humanities in the Public Square

NEH invites projects related to its initiative, The Common Good: The Humanities in the Public Square. This initiative seeks to connect the study of the humanities to the current conditions of national life. Many of today’s challenges require more than ever the forms of understanding and knowledge represented by the humanities. They require the broadest possible engagement of scholars and the public with the resources of the humanities, including but not limited to the study of language, literature, history, philosophy, comparative religion, and ethics. The study of the humanities can help illuminate the complexity of many contemporary challenges while enriching our understanding of the common good.

Note that the Common Good initiative incorporates the Standing Together initiative, which encourages projects related to war and military service.
Protecting our Cultural Heritage

In response to the destruction of cultural heritage materials worldwide, NEH encourages applications for projects that study, document, or create digital representations of lost or imperiled cultural heritage materials. Proposed projects should be based on scholarly work and follow standards and best practices. Project teams must include appropriate methodological specialists and humanities scholars. Projects must demonstrate the capacity to be sustained and must be widely accessible to the public. For more information click here.

Project accessibility

NEH grantees must follow the requirements of Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, which is designed to eliminate discrimination on the basis of handicap in any program or activity receiving federal financial assistance. For more information consult Design for Accessibility: A Cultural Administrator's Handbook here.

Award information

Successful applicants for NEH Humanities Initiatives may be awarded up to $100,000.

The grant period may run between twelve and thirty-six months, depending on the project, but it must begin between January 1, 2018, and May 1, 2018.

Eligibility

Any U.S. nonprofit tax-exempt historically black college or university, as defined by Executive Order 13532, is eligible to apply for a Humanities Initiatives grant. Eligible institutions are those included in the Department of Education’s list of HBCUs (click on “Accredited HBCU listing,” available at the link).

Individuals are not eligible to apply.

Collaboration with other organizations is welcome, but the project director must be from an eligible institution.

NEH generally does not award grants to other federal entities or to applicants whose projects are so closely intertwined with a federal entity that the project takes on characteristics of the federal entity’s own authorized activities. This does not preclude applicants from using grant funds from, or sites and materials controlled by, other federal entities in their projects.

Late, incomplete, or ineligible applications will not be reviewed.
II. Preparing and Organizing your Application

Resources for preparing a strong application

To prepare a strong application, applicants are encouraged to take the following steps:

- read these guidelines carefully, noting what information needs to be provided in the application;
- review the sample narratives, which are available on the program resource page;
- consult the program’s evaluation criteria, which are listed immediately below;
- read the Frequently Asked Questions, which are available on the program resource page;
- contact the program staff (at 202-606-8471 or hi@neh.gov) to discuss your project and raise any questions you may have about the application; and
- submit an optional draft proposal (at least six weeks before the deadline), to which program staff will respond with suggestions and advice.

Evaluation criteria

Proposals for NEH Humanities Initiatives are evaluated according to three general criteria: intellectual quality, feasibility, and potential for significant impact.

- Intellectual quality
  - Does the project center on a significant topic in the humanities?
  - Does the project engage important texts and draw on sound scholarship in the humanities?
  - Does the project effectively address the teaching and learning of humanities subject matter at the institution?
  - Is the proposal clear, free of academic jargon, and accessible to nonspecialists?
  - Does the project refrain from proposing advocacy and other activities not supported by NEH (listed above, after the first set of bullets in the guidelines)?

- Feasibility
  - Is the project well planned, with its activities described in adequate detail?
  - Are the personnel qualified to carry out their responsibilities?
- Do the letters or e-mails from scholars, other consultants, and participating institutions show evidence of commitment to, support for, and anticipated contributions to the project?

- Is the proposed evaluation appropriate to the project?

- Is the budget reasonable in view of the project design and likely results?

- Potential for significant impact

  - Will the project lead to opportunities for enhanced humanities teaching and learning?

  - Will the results be disseminated to those who would find them most useful?

  - Will the results extend beyond the period of the grant?

As noted earlier, applicants are encouraged to contact program officers, who can offer advice about preparing the proposal and review proposal drafts, if they are submitted no later than May 11, 2017. The program cannot guarantee that it will respond to late-arriving drafts.

Although this preliminary review is not part of the formal review process and has no bearing on the final outcome of the proposal, previous applicants have found it helpful in strengthening their applications.

The submission of proposal drafts is optional; if you choose to submit one, send it as an attachment to hi@neh.gov.

Once an applicant formally submits an application, NEH will not comment on its status except with respect to issues of completeness and eligibility.

The application should be clear, free of academic jargon, and accessible to nonspecialists. Applicants should refrain from proposing advocacy and other activities not supported by NEH (listed above, after the first set of bullets in the guidelines).

Application elements

An application consists of the following five parts: the table of contents, a summary, a narrative, a budget, and appendices.

1. Table of contents

   Include all parts of the application, with page numbers. Pages should be numbered consecutively through all sections, including the appendices.
2. Summary

Provide a single-spaced summary of the narrative (no longer than one page). In addition, supply the grants officer who will submit the application with an abridged version of the abstract (limited to a thousand characters, including spaces) for him or her to include in the Project Description field of the Application for Federal Domestic Assistance – Short Organizational (part of the application package that must be submitted to Grants.gov).

3. Narrative

The narrative—an extended discussion of the project’s content, activities, and intended audience—is the most important part of the application.

Limit the narrative to ten double-spaced pages with one-inch margins and a font size no smaller than twelve points. Include the following sections.

- Intellectual rationale

  Identify the topic that the project will address, and the audience that it will reach. Explain why the topic is important, and how the project will improve the quality of humanities teaching and learning.

- Program content and activities

  Describe the project’s humanities content in detail, discussing the topics that will be explored. Describe the project activities and the texts and resources to be used, and explain why they were chosen. Use an appendix to provide a plan of work, a list of readings, and a schedule of activities.

- Project personnel

  Identify the project director(s) and staff, lead scholars, and consultants. Define their roles and state their qualifications. In an appendix provide résumé(s) (no longer than five pages) for the project director(s) and biographies or brief résumés (no longer than two pages) for other personnel.

  Include in the appendix up-to-date letters or e-mails of commitment from key scholars and consultants, in which they describe their anticipated contributions to the project.

- Institutional context

  Briefly situate the humanities at your institution. Describe the humanities programs and curriculum, the involvement of faculty and students in the humanities, and the resources available for humanities study.
Briefly show how the resources (for example, faculty, library, or archival or museum holdings) of the participating institution(s) support the project. Describe any previous efforts to address the objectives of the project. If the proposal is related to a project previously funded by NEH, describe how the current effort builds on past work, and include in an appendix an evaluation of the initial project (for example, the final narrative report).

If you plan to collaborate with other institutions, describe any previous collaboration and include in an appendix letters or e-mails of commitment and support from any collaborating institutions, as well as your own.

- Follow-up and dissemination

  Describe the anticipated long-term impact of the project and any activities planned to take place after the grant period. These activities may include workshops with colleagues, presentations at conferences, or dissemination of new curricula. If digital materials will be developed, describe arrangements for maintaining them after the end of the grant period.

- Evaluation

  Explain how you will determine whether the project is meeting its expectations both during and after the grant period. Define the benchmarks for evaluating ongoing activities and the criteria for assessing the impact of the project. Outside evaluation is not required for NEH Humanities Initiatives grants.

4. Budget

Complete the budget form. You can find links to the budget instructions, budget form, and sample budget on the sidebar of the program resource page. If you wish, you may attach separate pages with notes to explain any of the budget items in more detail.

Applicants may include in their budgets grant funds to pay for travel expenses and honoraria for guest scholars and visiting consultants, books and other materials, modest purchases of computer equipment and materials directly related to the project, logistical support, staff salaries during project pilot phases, and release time for the project director. Applicants should also include in their budgets remuneration for project participants, based on their involvement in and contribution to the project.

The following is additional guidance for preparing your budget.

- Item 1: Salaries and wages

  Include all project personnel employed by the applicant institution. Calculations for faculty compensation must conform to the policies of the institution. Commonly, the budget includes a percentage of academic year or annual salary for those faculty members participating in the project. Such amounts may be used to release faculty members from normal duties for a specified amount of time or, alternatively, to pay them for time that they devote to the project over and above their normal duties. In some cases, such as professional development activities conducted in the summer, a uniform stipend may be provided for faculty participation. In no case, however, may this grant support replacement teachers or pay faculty members for performing their regular duties.

Compensation for support staff may be calculated as a percentage of salary or based on an hourly rate.

Salary compensation for employees of the applicant institution should be shown in the project budget as follows:

- For project directors during the academic year, release time normally should not exceed one course per quarter or semester.
- For project directors during the summer, compensation is based on a percentage of the director's academic year salary. For example, one month of full-time work would equal one-ninth or 11.1 percent of a nine-month academic year salary.
- Faculty who participate in a workshop or have other responsibilities in implementing the project may receive stipends, typically $100 per day or $500 on completion of a week-long summer workshop, or as appropriate for other responsibilities in a project.

- Item 2: Fringe benefits

  Fringe benefits may include contributions for social security, employee insurance, pension plans, etc. Only those benefits that are not included in an organization’s indirect-cost pool (discussed in Item 8 below) may be shown as direct costs.

- Item 3: Consultant fees

  List individuals contributing to the project as visiting lecturers or leaders of faculty study sessions. The honoraria for visiting faculty and other consultants range from $350 to $750 per person per day or up to a maximum of $3,750 per person per week, not including travel and subsistence costs. Travel and subsistence costs should be entered under budget Item 4.

- Item 4: Travel

  Calculate travel and subsistence costs, including participant travel, in conformity with institutional policy. The lowest available commercial fares for coach or equivalent accommodations must be used.
All air travel that is paid in whole or in part with NEH funds must be undertaken on U.S. flag air carriers. For further information on travel requirements, please see the articles on Travel Costs and Foreign Travel in the General Terms and Conditions for Awards.

All project directors will attend a planning meeting at NEH’s offices in Washington, D.C. Directors should budget accordingly for a one-day meeting for the first year of the requested grant period. Other project leaders may wish to attend the meeting; if so, their expenses should also be detailed here.

- Item 5: Supplies and materials

  List all purchases of consumable supplies, materials to be used in the project, and items of expendable equipment (that is, equipment costing less than $5,000 and with an estimated useful life of less than one year) to be purchased with grant funds. Eligible items include supplies, such as computer and instructional materials, educational software, etc. Please note that costs for these items may be included only if they are not part of the indirect-cost pool (discussed in Item 8 below). See also the list of “Inadmissible Budget Items” below.

- Item 6: Services

  Services include the cost of duplication and printing, long-distance telephone charges and postage, rental of films and equipment, technical support, rental of buses and vans for site visits, and subcontracts of any kind. The costs of project activities to be undertaken by a third-party contractor should be included in this category as a single line item charge. Append to the budget a complete itemization of the costs comprising the charge. If there is more than one contractor, each must be listed (as a separate line item under “Services”) on the budget form, and the costs must be itemized separately. If you plan to collaborate with another institution, the grants office of the applicant institution may wish to consult with the NEH Office of Grant Management.

- Item 7: Other costs

  Faculty participants not employed by the applicant institution receive set stipends commensurate with their expected time commitment. Such stipends should be included in this budget item. Also include purchases of permanent equipment (defined as equipment having a useful life of more than one year and an acquisition cost of $5,000 or more). Equipment is to be used solely for project activities during the life of the grant and is not intended for personal use.

  (Reminder: consultant fees are entered under budget Item 3.)
Item 8: Indirect costs (overhead)

These are costs that are incurred for common or joint objectives and therefore cannot be readily identified with a specific project or activity of an organization. Typical examples of indirect costs are the salaries of executive officers, the costs of operating and maintaining facilities, local telephone service, office supplies, and accounting and legal services.

If the applicant institution is claiming indirect costs and has a federally negotiated indirect-cost rate agreement, submit a copy of the agreement. Do not attach the agreement to your budget form. Instead you must attach it to the Budget Narrative Attachment Form (also known as the Budget Narrative File). (See the instructions for this form in the Application Checklist near the end of this document.) Alternatively, you must attach a statement to the form, explaining a) that the applicant institution is not claiming indirect costs; b) that the applicant institution does not currently have a federally negotiated indirect-cost rate agreement; or c) that the applicant institution is using the government-wide rate of up to 10 percent of the total direct costs, less distorting items (including but not limited to capital expenditures, participant stipends, fellowships, and the portion of each subgrant or subcontract in excess of $25,000).

Indirect costs are computed by applying a negotiated indirect-cost rate to a distribution base (typically a portion of the direct costs of the project). If the applicant institution is claiming indirect costs and has a current federally negotiated indirect-cost rate agreement, include on the budget form the following information: a) the indirect-cost rate; b) the federal agency with which the agreement was negotiated; and c) the date of the agreement.

If the applicant institution does not have a current federally negotiated indirect-cost rate or has not submitted a pending indirect-cost proposal to a federal agency, you may choose one of the following options, if you wish to include overhead charges in the budget:

- NEH will not require the formal negotiation of an indirect-cost rate, provided that the charge for indirect costs does not exceed 10 percent of direct costs, less distorting items (including but not limited to capital expenditures, participant stipends, fellowships, and the portion of each individual subgrant or subcontract in excess of $25,000). This option is not available to sponsorship (umbrella) organizations. If you choose this option, you must maintain documentation to support overhead charges claimed as part of project costs.

- If the applicant institution wishes to use a rate higher than 10 percent, you must provide an estimate of the indirect-cost rate and the charges on the budget form. If the application is approved for funding, NEH will provide instructions in the award document on how to negotiate an indirect-cost rate with NEH.
If you choose one of these two options, please indicate on your budget form that you are doing so.

- Inadmissible budget items

  The following costs are not allowable and may not appear in project budgets:

  - the cost of replacement teachers or compensation for faculty members performing their regular duties;

  - the rental of recreational facilities and costs related to social events such as banquets, receptions, and entertainment;

  - tuition fees for participants; and

  - the cost of travel associated with scholarly research unrelated to the project.

- Budget notes (optional)

  If needed, include a brief supplement to the budget, explaining projected expenses or other items in the financial information provided on the budget form.

5. Appendices

Use appendices to provide the following materials:

- the plan of work, a schedule of activities, and a list of readings for the project;

- résumé(s) (five pages each) for the project director(s), and brief résumés or biographies (two pages each) for and letters or e-mails of commitment from each scholar involved in the project;

- letters or e-mails of commitment from each institution involved in the project, including the applicant institution;

- a one-page appendix providing a brief institutional history, as well as key institutional data, including number of faculty, number of departments, graduate programs (if applicable), student enrollments, etc.; and

- an evaluation of the initial project, if the proposal is related to a project previously funded by NEH.
Include only relevant information concisely presented. Each appendix should be identified clearly and listed in the table of contents. Remember that pages should be numbered consecutively through all sections, including the appendices. The proposal narrative should refer to items included in the appendices or samples of digital work.

Projects proposing a digital component (for example, a website, app, database, or virtual collection) may wish to provide samples that demonstrate the proposed component and its relationship to the goals of the project. Applicants must submit such samples (for example, screen shots or URLs linking to the samples, including links to Dropbox or other accessible online storage platforms) via Grants.gov.

Use the Application Checklist to verify completion of all parts of the application.

III. Submitting your Application

To be able to submit an application, applicants must have registered with Grants.gov and must have an updated Entity record in the System for Award Management (SAM). More detailed information is immediately below.

All applications to this program must be submitted via Grants.gov. NEH strongly recommends that you complete or verify your Grants.gov registration at least two weeks before the application deadline, since it takes time to process your registration.

The Federal Funding Accountability and Transparency Act (FFATA) requires federal agencies to make information about the expenditure of tax funds available to the public. To facilitate this, the applicant organization must maintain current information in its Entity record in the System for Award Management (SAM). You must therefore review and update the information in your organization’s Entity record at least annually after the initial registration, and more frequently if required by changes in your organization’s information or another award term. In order for your organization to apply for an award via Grants.gov, receive an award, or receive payment on an award, the information in its Entity record must be current. You can update your organization’s Entity record here. You may need a new SAM User Account to register your organization or update its Entity record. NEH strongly recommends that applicants update (or, if necessary, create) their SAM Entity record at least four weeks before the application deadline.

Links to the Grants.gov application package and instructions for preparing and submitting the package can be found on the sidebar of the program resource page.

Be sure to read the document (PDF) that explains how to confirm that you successfully submitted your application. It is your responsibility as an applicant to confirm that Grants.gov and subsequently NEH have accepted your application.
Deadlines for submitting optional draft proposals and applications

Draft proposals (optional): Program staff recommends that prospective applicants submit draft proposals by May 11, 2017. Time constraints may prevent staff from reviewing draft proposals submitted after that date. Staff comments in response to draft proposals are not part of the formal review process and have no bearing on the final outcome of the proposal, but previous applicants have found them helpful in strengthening their applications. Drafts should be submitted to hi@neh.gov.

Applications must be received by Grants.gov on or before June 22, 2017. Grants.gov will date- and time-stamp your application after it is fully uploaded. Applications submitted after that date will not be accepted.

IV. What Happens After the Submission of an Application

Review and selection process

Knowledgeable persons outside NEH will read each application and advise the agency about its merits. NEH staff comments on matters of fact or on significant issues that otherwise would be missing from these reviews, then makes recommendations to the National Council on the Humanities. The National Council meets at various times during the year to advise the NEH chairman on grants. The chairman takes into account the advice provided by the review process and, by law, makes all funding decisions. More details about NEH’s review process are available here.

Prior to making an award, NEH will conduct a risk assessment of successful applicants, consistent with Uniform Guidance §200.205. (See the second paragraph below the next heading for more information about the Uniform Guidance provided by the Office of Management and Budget.) This assessment guards against the risk that federal financial assistance might be wasted, used fraudulently, or abused. Based on its risk assessment, NEH will include in the award documents specific conditions designed to mitigate the effects of the risk.

Information for all applicants and for successful applicants

Applicants will be notified of the decision by e-mail in December 2017. Institutional grants administrators and project directors of successful applications will receive award documents by e-mail in January 2018. Award documents will identify the relevant terms, conditions, and administrative requirements that pertain to successful applications. The Grant Management section of the NEH website outlines all the responsibilities of award recipients, including anti-lobbying restrictions, in great detail. Applicants may obtain the evaluations of their proposals by sending an e-mail message to hi@neh.gov.
In September 2015 NEH adopted without exception a new government-wide regulation for federal awards, referred to as the “Uniform Guidance.” The Uniform Guidance applies to all NEH awards to organizations and is aimed at reducing the administrative burden on award recipients and improving accountability of federal financial assistance for tax payers (See 2 C.F.R. Part 200: UNIFORM ADMINISTRATIVE REQUIREMENTS, COST PRINCIPLES, AND AUDIT REQUIREMENTS FOR FEDERAL AWARDS.) NEH will identify in each grantee’s award documents the relevant terms, conditions, and administrative requirements from the Uniform Guidance with which the grantee must comply.

Help NEH eliminate fraud and improve management by providing information about allegations or suspicions of waste, fraud, abuse, mismanagement, research misconduct (fabrication, falsification, plagiarism), or unnecessary government expenditures, during the period of award performance, to the NEH Office of the Inspector General. You can find details on how to report such allegations and suspicions here.

Information in these guidelines is solicited under the authority of the National Foundation on the Arts and Humanities Act of 1965, as amended, 20 U.S.C. 956. The principal purpose for which the information will be used is to process the grant application. The information may also be used for statistical research, analysis of trends, and Congressional oversight. Failure to provide the information may result in the delay or rejection of the application.
Application completion time

The Office of Management and Budget requires federal agencies to supply information on the time needed to complete forms and also to invite comments on the paperwork burden. NEH estimates that the average time to complete this application is fifteen hours per response. This estimate includes time for reviewing instructions, researching, gathering, and maintaining the information needed, and completing and reviewing the application.

Please send any comments regarding the estimated completion time or any other aspect of this application, including suggestions for reducing the completion time, to the Chief Guidelines Officer, at guidelines@neh.gov; the Office of Publications, National Endowment for the Humanities, Washington, DC 20506; and the Office of Management and Budget, Paperwork Reduction Project (3136-0134), Washington, DC 20503. According to the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, no persons are required to respond to a collection of information unless it displays a valid OMB number.
