The Institutes for Advanced Topics in the Digital Humanities program supports national or regional (multistate) training programs for scholars, humanities professionals, and advanced graduate students to broaden and extend their knowledge of digital humanities.

Through this program, NEH seeks to increase the number of humanities scholars and practitioners using digital technology in their research and to broadly disseminate knowledge about advanced technology tools and methodologies relevant to the humanities.
INSTITUTES FOR ADVANCED TOPICS IN THE DIGITAL HUMANITIES (IATDH)

- digital scholarly communication and publishing
- advanced geospatial applications
- artificial intelligence and its use in text, sound, or image analysis
- physical computing, such as three-dimensional printing and wearable computing, and its implications for humanities research and public engagement
- immersive and virtual environment design for humanities research, or for computer gaming or simulations as applied to the humanities
- data design and visualization of humanities topics and research
- creative approaches to implementing digital humanities methods at institutions with specific needs, such as community colleges, liberal arts colleges, or minority-serving institutions
- innovative approaches for engaging public audiences with digital humanities
- high-performance computing or supercomputing applicable for humanities research and teaching
- critical algorithm studies
- analysis of and research on the impact of digital media and culture on society, including the intersection of digital methodologies and race, gender, class, and ability

February 15, 2023, and February 15, 2024

Eligibility:

(Section C., NOFO p. 4-5 for complete list):

• a 501 (c)(3) nonprofit organization, an accredited institution of higher education, a state or local government, or a federally recognized Native American Tribal government

• Project directors and co-Project Directors may only submit one IATDH application per deadline.
Does your project fit within our program priorities?

Other grant programs fund professional development opportunities:

- Institutes for Higher Education Faculty or K-12 Educators (Division of Education Programs)
- Education and Training (Division of Preservation and Access)

Other grant programs support conferences, symposia, and project planning workshops:

- Collaborative Research (Division of Research Programs)
- Digital Humanities Advancement Grants (Office of Digital Humanities)
- Dangers and Opportunities of Technology (Office of Digital Humanities)
ACTIVITIES WE DO NOT FUND

Funding Restrictions
(NOFO pp 27):

• digitizing collections
• graduate or undergraduate courses or programs in the digital humanities
• programs that are not regional (multistate) or national in scope
• institutes held outside the United States or its jurisdictions
• meals, food, or refreshments at receptions or “networking” events
• costs for activities performed by federal entities or personnel
• promotion of a particular political, religious, or ideological point of view
• advocacy of a particular program of social or political action
• support of specific public policies or legislation
• lobbying
• projects that fall outside of the humanities; the creation or performance of art; creative writing, autobiographies, memoirs, and creative nonfiction; policy studies; and social science research that does not address humanistic questions and/or utilize humanistic methods
WHAT’S NEW FOR 2023 AND 2024?

- This Notice of Funding Opportunity will apply to the 2023 and 2024 deadlines.
- Additional guidance on faculty and participant compensation
- A resource for project evaluation
- For projects partnering with another institution as a host via a subaward, subrecipient budgets from those institutions are now a separate attachment

IATDH Program Resource Page: Everything you need!

2. Content and Form of Application Submission

Your application will include a narrative, budget, and other forms and attachments. You will complete the forms within Grants.gov Workspace and upload other components into the Attachments Form. See the Application Component Table.

NEH has assigned each application component one of the following designations:

- Required: You must submit this component.
- Conditionally Required: You must submit this component if your proposal meets the specified conditions.
- Recommended: NEH encourages, but does not require, you to submit this component.

You must submit all required components and conditionally required components relevant to your proposal. NEH will not review applications missing any required documents or relevant conditionally required documents.

In addition, NEH has established page limits for some application components:

- Mandatory: You must not exceed the page limit.
- Suggested: NEH encourages, but does not require, you to abide by the page limit.

Take note of the page limits and formatting instructions in this notice. NEH will not review applications that exceed mandatory page limits or deviate from formatting instructions.

Your application components must conform to the following formatting requirements, unless otherwise indicated:

- pages no larger than standard letter (8 ½” x 11”)
- at least one-inch margins on all sides for all pages
- a font no smaller than 11 points

In addition, you are encouraged to format your components consistent with the following:

- single-spacing
- a readable font such as Arial, Georgia, Helvetica, or Times New Roman
- any standard citation style (citations are included in page counts)
APPLICATION CHECKLIST

Found on pages 7-8 in the NOFO

- Note page limits & requirements
- Check with your institutional research or development office about internal deadlines & requirements before you begin applications

I. Intellectual significance & potential impact

Aligned with the following application sections:

- Narrative: Significance
- Narrative: Impact and Evaluation

• Prepare a clear and persuasive are the intellectual rationale—why do you want to do this?
• Justify the digital methodology or technologies being studied at the institute
• Situate the proposed institute amongst others of a similar nature (Tip: Check the list of previously funded IATDHs)
• And then clarify how this institute will build on that past work or break new ground
• For prior IADTH recipients, provide evidence that a second or third offering is warranted
2. Conception, definition, organization, and description of the program

- Justify the chosen format— in-person, virtual, hybrid— for the proposed topic
- Make sure that you have considered how the components work together— is it an appropriate mix of lectures, discussions, hands-on activities, and independent work?
- Demonstrate that you have allowed adequate time for the proposed activities
- In the Workplan attachment, provide a clear sense of what will happen before, during, and after of the active part of the institute
- For prior IADTH recipients, does the applicant adequately explain how the directors’ experiences have shaped the institute currently being proposed?

Aligned with the following application sections:

- Narrative: Curriculum and work plan
- Workplan and course outline (Attachment 3)
- For previous directors: Evaluations and description of updates (Attachment 6)
3. Participant selection

Aligned with the following application sections:

- Narrative: Significance
- Narrative: Participants

- Demonstrate that you’ve thought carefully about your intended audience
- Provide details about your recruitment strategies as well as any outreach activities to particular communities of humanities faculty members and professionals
- Describe plans for recruiting a diverse and inclusive pool of applicants, including those from historically underrepresented communities and individuals with disabilities (Tip: Show that you are aware of particular networks and affinity groups)
- And then, tell us how you will select your participants
4. Appropriateness of the host institution and the institute team

Now make the case for why YOU (and your institution) should host the institute

Describe the facilities and related resources support a collegial academic environment— are there special libraries and laboratories that participants will have access to?

If you are proposing a virtual or hybrid offering, describe your experiences with this format

Show that the institute faculty are appropriate for the institute topic and activities (Tip: Tailor the Biographies and Letters of Commitment attachments for this application)

Aligned with the following application sections:

- Narrative: Institutional Profile
- Narrative: Staff, faculty, and consultants
- Biographies (Attachment 4)
- Letters of Commitment (Attachment 5)
5. Impact, evaluation and budget

- Describe your evaluation plans (both during and after the institute)—how will you know that you’re meeting your goals
  - Note: we have included a reference to a resource for evaluating professional programs
- Do you have plans for sustaining the community after the active part of the institute? Collaborative publication? Developing of teaching resources?
- Describe how a project website will showcase the institute curriculum and participant work
- Budget appropriately for faculty and staff—honoraria? Travel costs?
- Describe how the faculty, staff, and participants will be compensated. Travel and per diem? A flat rate?

Aligned with the following application sections:
- Narrative: Impact and Evaluation
- Budget(s) & Justification(s) (Grants.gov form)
• Remember, this is the NEH—humanities significance is always key.
• Have a clear sense of how you can use your expertise to build a community of digital humanities practitioners.
• Design a feasible offering with a reasonable budget – this is public funding!
• Be realistic about what you can accomplish in a proposed professional development opportunity.
• Clearly describe your intended participant audience and your plans for connecting with them.

Applications that do not adhere to program requirements (including page limits) or are incomplete will not be reviewed.
NEH REVIEW PROCESS

• NEH reviews for eligibility & completeness
• Peer review & panel meeting
  • Panelists have 6-7 weeks to evaluate, then meet to discuss
• Staff make recommendations after peer review process complete
• National Humanities Council review recommendations
  • Meetings in March, July, November
• NEH Chair makes final decisions on awards
• Applicants notified

Decision notifications: 6-7 months after submission date
SUBMIT A DRAFT
